FATHER'S DAY - GIFT GIVING TIMED TO PERFECTION

The Scottish distillers of Balblair Highland Single Malt Scotch Whisky know that picking the perfect gift is a task that can't and shouldn't be hurried. Balblair is the only distillery to solely produce vintage expression whiskies. Hand-selected by Distillery Manager, John MacDonald, a bottle of Balblair 1997 Vintage is a truly unique Father's Day gift this year.

Whisky-loving fathers will relish Balblair 1997's deep golden amber appearance and abundant aromas of tropical fruits, hints of honey, vanilla and butterscotch. Initially sweet to the taste, this full bodied, exceptionally well-balanced, complex Vintage, offers a long spicy finish – the mark of its ex-bourbon American oak barrel maturation.

Handcrafted using traditional production methods by a dedicated team of just seven, Balblair undertakes a slow process and bears low volumes. This means that giving the gift of Balblair 1997 is an opportunity to show your father that you really care.

Balblair's fine selection of whiskies, chosen and named by the year that they were laid down in cask, are all timed to perfection after a complex tasting and nosing process. This means that with just one taste whisky-loving fathers will know that there's something particularly special about their Highland Single Malt.

Simply serve a dram of Balblair 1997 neat or with a little water to taste, in a tulip shaped glass to retain its unique aromas.
